VARCom President Joins Northern Virginia Leaders in Celebrating Revival of Rail to Dulles Project

Raul Danny Vargas, President and founder of VARCom Solutions, joined other Northern Virginia business leaders at a press conference on April 30, 2008 to cheer the federal government's approval to move the Dulles Rail project to the final design phase. The move was a reversal of the Department of Transportation's action from earlier in the year to virtually kill the project.

Joining Vargas at the press conference were representatives from the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, the Loudoun County Chamber of Commerce, the Greater Reston Chamber of Commerce, the Dulles Corridor Rail Association and others. About the press conference Vargas said, "It was exuberating to re-join leaders of other organizations to celebrate the reinvigoration of the rail to Dulles project. It demonstrates to fact that working together, the public can influence the process". The Dulles Regional Chamber of Commerce, which Vargas chairs, helped organize a joint press conference on February 1st when the federal government first expressed grave concerns over the project. The press conference and subsequent calls to action resulted in a large phone, fax, and email campaign to help change the status of the project.
